Start here

Everything needed to run the October–November paid campaign, one folder per platform. Each folder holds its own creative and a `README.md` that tells you where to build the ad, what to select, what to paste and what to watch.

The folders

FOLDER	PLATFORM	SPEND SHARE	WHAT IS IN IT
`01-META`	Instagram + Facebook	55%	2 feed statics, a 6-frame carousel, 2 vertical videos for Reels
`02-LINKEDIN`	LinkedIn	18%	1 single-image ad, 6-page document ad
`03-TIKTOK`	TikTok	12%	2 narrated vertical videos
`04-YOUTUBE`	YouTube	8%	2 Shorts, 2 in-feed/thumbnail frames
`05-SNAPCHAT`	Snapchat	5%	2 vertical statics, one in Arabic
`06-GOOGLE-BUSINESS`	Business Profile	organic	2 square profile posts
`07-REFERENCE`	—	—	Voiceover script, build files, how to regenerate

Read `00-RUN-THIS-CAMPAIGN.md` first — it is the whole campaign at 20,000 EGP a month, executable as written, with nothing left to decide. `00-BUDGET-20K-EGP.md` sits behind it and explains the allocation. At 20,000 EGP a month only Meta and Google Business are actually runnable — every other platform's own daily minimum is higher than its share of the budget, and TikTok's is higher than the entire budget. The spend shares in the table above are the full-plan figures; the budget page has what to do today.

If you only do one thing

Run `01-META` at the floor budget: AED 150/day for four weeks, two ads. That is roughly AED 5,500 and it answers the only question that matters at this stage — whether the leak wedge converts at all. Everything else is refinement on top of that answer.

The offer, in one line

Give us your website; we submit your own enquiry form, time the reply, check your booking path, and send you the timestamps. Free, inside 24 hours, no call required.

Every ad in every folder points at that one offer. Nothing sells the platform, quotes a price, or uses a testimonial — those are deliberate, and the reasons are in each folder's manual.

The test running underneath

Each platform carries two opposed concepts:

- Concept A is personal — a founder, a timestamp, a story.
- Concept B is evidential — a dataset, a grid, a number.

They are not two versions of one idea. They test which register this market buys in, and the answer transfers to your landing page headline, your cold email opener, and the first ninety seconds of your sales call. That finding is worth more than the leads.

Numbers to hold in your head

NUMBER	VALUE
Target cost per qualified lead	$85
Breakeven (gross profit per customer)	$4,200
Qualification bar	5/9 on Urgency + Budget + Fit
Wait before judging an ad	3× target CPL of spend
Budget increase when scaling	+20%, every 3–5 days, never more

Everything here ships today

Every figure in every ad is measured. The 62-clinic audit — 62 checked by hand, 35 taking enquiries through a form, 18 with no booking mechanism, 8 with a real calendar, 1 whose site would not load while its ads ran — is the evidence base for the whole set, and both concepts are built from it.

That also makes the A/B test cleaner than it was. Concept A and concept B now carry identical facts in opposite registers — one as a person recounting an afternoon's work, one as a dataset. Nothing varies except the register, so whichever wins tells you something you can act on everywhere else.